

HONORING BROC GLOVER

2006 "GOLDEN BOY" CARNEROS CHARDONNAY

Broc Glover, a leading motocross racer in the late 1970s and 1980s, earned six AMA National Motocross Championships, a record which stood for nearly 20 years. In 1977, at the age of 17, Glover won the 125cc National Championship in his first full year riding as a pro and became the youngest AMA motocross champion in history; a record that stood until 2000. After defending his crown in 1978 and 1979, he moved to the 500cc class in 1981 and won the national championship that year. He added 500cc championships in 1983 and 1985 then retired after the 1988 season holding the AMA all-time wins record in both AMA 125cc motocross and 500cc motocross.

Broc Glover's 2006 Golden Boy Chardonnay is 100% Carneros Chardonnay, crisp and elegant with full forward fruit. Flavors are intense and unobstructed by the uniquely austere soils of the famed Carneros growing region.

The price is $28 and the official charity is The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.
